Be more profitable
in your short run work

RICOH
imagine. change.

Simple, intuitive and powerful

Give your business what it needs to create streamlined workflows that take the chaos out of managing a variety of small jobs from multiple orders. Increase operator efficiency, printer utilization and your business's profitability with RICOH TotalFlow BatchBuilder.

Flexibility that fits your workflows

The solution groups jobs based on production criteria and allows you to automate your scheduling based on priority. Tailor your schedule with filters, such as document size, paper type, finishing styles, deadlines, customer name and more or use the fully automated scheduling. Seamless integration between BatchBuilder and Ultimate Imposition® gives you the agility to change things on the go and confidence in the integrity of what you're sending to print.

Job-level visibility through production

With an intuitive interface, jobs can be easily viewed and located at any point in production. Barcodes make it simple for operators to update the status of work or resubmit an order. Easier oversight and faster tracking of an increasing volume of small jobs results in less employee stress and more satisfied clients.

Ease-of-use and control are fundamental elements of BatchBuilder's vendor-neutral design.

More profit, less stop-and-start

Increase efficiency by removing manual touchpoints and reducing back-and-forth setups for print and finishing. Recover valuable time, process more orders and price your work more competitively.

Keep operator focus where it needs to be Performing batch work upstream, jobs arrive at the printer already sorted according to like characteristics, reducing bottlenecks. Automatically pre-flight, perform imposition and send a job where it needs to go.

Make the most of your sheet-fed, continuous feed and wide-format printers. Increase device throughput, regardless of manufacturer, with automated routing that organizes jobs by attributes for maximum efficiency.
